State's Industrial Job Quality Is Improving, MP&L "Data" Shows

Mississippi's industrial employment increased from 64,510 in 1950 to 103,337 in 1967 for the nation—195,337 or 32nd for the nation in 1967, according to the marketing and development department of Mississippi Power & Light Company.

However, it was pointed out, gains in jobs alone doesn't tell the whole story.

MP&L's 1950-1967 "County Economic Data" just off the press, points out that manufacturing employment is making gains in higher paying categories.

Higher Paying Jobs

For example, employment in fabricated metals increased 604 percent—from 552 jobs in 1950 to 3,892 in 1967. Employment in manufacture of transportation equipment, another higher paying category, rose from 1,530 jobs to 8,679—a 467 percent gain—during the same period.

On the other hand, employment in the lower paying lumber and wood manufacturing category, excluding furniture, decreased from 30,726 to 20,688 jobs—a drop of 33 percent from 1950 to 1967.

Here is a percentage increase in other manufacturing employment increases since 1950, as reported in MP&L's "County Economic Data": (Sources for the data are the Mississippi State Tax Commission, Mississippi State Employment Service, and the Agricultural Census.)

Other Job Increases
From 1950 to 1967, food and kindred jobs rose 64 percent; textile mill products, up 695 percent; apparel, up 62 percent; furniture and fixtures, up 71 percent; paper and allied employment, up 16 percent; chemical and allied employment, up 1.9 percent; machinery, up 111 percent; electrical machinery, up 141 percent; and all other manufacturing employment, up 125 percent.

Largest gain in industrial employment—1950 through 1967—was made in Jackson County. Manufacturing jobs rose there 145 percent during the seven years to 9,221. Major gains were in transportation equipment, up 633 percent, and apparel, up 510 percent.

"County Economic Data" includes a county-by-county breakdown of various economic standings throughout the State.

ENTERTAIN GUESTS

Mrs. Sidney Prague of Houston, Texas, and Mrs. Harry Baker of Chicago, house guests of Mrs. Prague's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Jr., were entertained at a coffee party Monday morning from 10:30 to 12 at the McDonald home on Felicity Street. Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Sr., and Mrs. McDonald, Jr., were co-hostesses.

Bouquets of yellow mums and gladioli trimmed the reception rooms. The table, covered with a lace cloth, had as a centerpiece an arrangement of autumn blossoms.

Pouring coffee were Mrs. Lucien M. Gex and Mrs. Jo Gex. The honorees were each presented a corsage of autumn flowers.
